Rebekah Marsh

Rebekah Marsh is a clinical nurse educator for acute care/telemetry at Harborview Medical Center, UW Medicine, University of Washington, Seattle. In 2024, she was nominated as Harborview Nurse Leader of the Year for leading her organization to implement the AACN Healthy Work Environment Standards.

As a second-career nurse, educator and artist, Rebekah embodies the blending of art and science in nursing and nursing education. She designed the Nurses Week artwork for Harborview Medical Center (2022-2023). Rebekah has selflessly donated her time, wisdom, creativity and spirit to AACN throughout her career.

Rebekah's extensive volunteer service with AACN includes being an alumna of AACN Clinical Scene Investigator (CSI) Academy. She mentors clinical staff nurses who pursue evidence-based practice and nurse-led quality improvement projects. Rebekah has cofacilitated several NTI preconferences on AACN CSI Academy concepts. A member of the AACN Liaison Program, she served on the AACN - AACN Certification Corporation Nominating Committee from 2021-2022 and 2018-2019.

Rebekah is serving a one-year term as AACN president. She previously held a one-year term as president-elect of the AACN Board of Directors, a three-year term as a director (July 1, 2020 to June 30, 2023) and a one-year term as secretary (July 1, 2022-June 30, 2023).
