Per Rosenkvist
Circle of Excellence

Per Rosenkvist is a critical care lead advanced practice provider (APP) at RWJBH - Cooperman Barnabas Medical Center in Livingston, New Jersey. He has over 25 years of experience in critical care environments. Per spearheaded a systemwide effort to standardize vascular access management. This initiative included developing and leading a central venous catheter insertion course, training over 400 providers. Beyond his operational excellence, Per is a dedicated educator and mentor. He serves as the local site director for New Jersey's first ANCC-accredited with distinction APP Fellowship Program, influencing the next generation of critical care clinicians. He models a healthy work environment through skilled communication, true collaboration and authentic leadership, fostering cohesion and accountability among a multidisciplinary team. His commitment to standardized, high-quality patient care and organizational excellence is evident in his measurable results and enduring influence.
